

Working with Fr. Pelton on a study guide for high school students to accompany his award-winning documentary on Oscar Romero, I got a sense of the passion he had to share his work and the story of Archbishop Romero far and wide. The resource and film has proved a boon to high-school theology teachers, especially to accompany a course on Catholic Social Teaching. In the midst of our preparation and production of the materials, I also always enjoy breaking down the latest news in Notre Dame Football with Fr. Pelton. Congratulations to you!
