

Dear Fr. Pelton,

Please know how much your work for the Church in Latin America means to so many of us.

I am so grateful to have been a student here in the late 1980s and to "grow up" with role models such as yourself and Fr. Don McNeill. You, and others, have been critical to my own "conscientizacao" during my young adult years. Your continued dedication and commitment to keeping alive the memory of Archbishop Romero and the Salvadoran martyrs has continued to feed me during my years now as a teacher and professional.

To say "thank you" seems so entirely inadequate and unsatisfying but please know that it comes from the heart and with indeed much more gratitude than words could ever convey.

Most fondly,
Rachel Tomas Morgan
